GOOD NEWS for the people of Anderson and out of Anderson who come to pay a flying visit to our beautiful and picturesque city, nestling in the defiles of the Blue Ridge Range, and possessing many advantages over any city of its size in the State. And to the good people I now exclaim with emotion that—

I have just returned from New York,

The scene of the greatest excitement since the panic of '73, Banks and wholesale houses bursting, and men who were worth thousands on the morning of Tuesday were penniless before sundown on Saturday, and with the bursting of those houses down went the Goods with a crash, like a train through a broken bridge. And

I WAS THERE WITH THE CASH,

Which is the best companion you can have in a case of that kind. The bargains that I got—"don't talk!"—they are immense. No such bargains were ever offered before, by me or anybody else. The truth is that I am astonished myself at the ridical party level of the state of the sta ridiculously low prices I can afford to sell at. These prices will bring to many a household as much unspeakable joy to housewife and husbandman as the annual visit of Santa Claus will bring to the little three year old darlings.

Excitement is Now over Fever Heat,

And strong men turn pale while Wall Street, the great monied centre of the United States, trembles as if shaken by an earthquake. During all this excitement the auctioneer's voice is heard above the deafening noise, and at the words, "Going, Going, Gone," down comes the auctioneer's hammer. Then there is a lull, while the clerk cries out, "Gone to the Flynn Crusade?" To quote prices would be impossible, the stock is now so large it would fill one side of this paper.

My stock of Clothing and Overcoats is now decidedly the largest in the Up Country, and the prices not more than 65c on the dollar. My stock of Shoes I have not got half enough room for, and will run off a lot at your own price for a week or ten days to make room. I have everything now in stock, from a Baby's All Wool Undershirt to a Fine

My stock of Ladies' Capes, in Seal, Plush and Astrican, Jackets, Wraps and Newmarkets (all tailor made) catches the ladies of good taste.

Something new and pretty in Ladies' Dress Goods and Trimmings to match, lately imported. All Wool Scotch Plaids for Ladies' Suits. They are very nobby. These are sold at a price not over 68c on the dollar.
